Seed oil free, Aussie oat milk that makes nutritionists and baristas froth!

It may surprise you that plenty (if not most) plant-based milks contain industrial seed oils like canola, rapeseed or sunflower oil. It helps them taste, well, more milky, and create the creamy texture we love in our coffee.

But OMG are on a mission to make a plant-based milk that does the right thing by you, your coffee, and the environment. So we've proudly embraced Aussie olive oil in our oat milk, as an industrial seed oil alternative. After all, everything we do is for the sake of goodness.

Regenerative farming builds soil microbiology and naturally functioning ecosystems, which results in improved soil health that in turn helps draw down carbon from the atmosphere.

“Since using regenerative farming practices (e.g. rotational grazing, applying worm compost extracts and compost teas), earthworm population has gone from being lucky to find one under a thistle to approximately 50 per shovel. True open-range pigs will travel long distances during the day foraging for their favourite treats or just to go to that hidden resting place or wallow. Pigs love to graze and will supplement their diet with grasses, weeds, insects and other small animals. Our pigs give birth outdoors and spend their entire lives happily free to roam and forage in paddocks with supplementary GMO free feed. Our rare and heritage breed pigs grow at a natural pace, unaided by hormones or growth promoters and are an integral component in the ongoing regeneration of our property.”

Glenn Jones, Limestone Pork.

TSUKE MONO

JAPANESE PICKLES

Tsuke Mono translates to “pickled things”. In Japan they are served with practically every traditional meal. Whether you are having a healthy salad which needs some kick, or a sneaky burger, wrap or crusty avocado toast. Perhaps it’s some grilled salmon or barbecued pork, these all-natural pickles will sit happily with all.

Tsuke Mono pickles are produced in Australia with the highest quality local vegetables and an in-house developed Japanese pickling brine. The pickles go through a short period of lacto-fermentation before being jarred.

the Carob KITCHEN

A U S T R A L I A

Over 20 years ago a seed was planted – the idea to turn a family seaside farm in Port Elliot, South Australia, into an organic Carob orchard. Since then one tree has turned into many and the Carob Kitchen was born. Made from ben to bar, we have added only the purest of natural ingredients to blend a mild yet naturally sweet carob bar.

who gives a crap

Good for people

2.3 billion people live without a toilet and we think that's pretty crap. We donate 50% of our profits to our charity partners to help fund vital sanitation projects in developing countries. Every roll sold provides someone in need with a toilet for one week.

Good for your bum

All natural, made without chlorine, inks or any wired scents. So it's as good for your bum as it is for your wallet. In fact it's so lovely it will make your bum smile.

Good for the planet

We think it's crazy people are still using toilet paper made with trees. By wiping with 100% recycled fibres you're helping save trees and reduce land waste. Nice!

HEALTHY HOME PRODUCTS

When the health of your family matters

“Being a parent myself, I understand what you expect from the products you buy. I’ve gone to extreme lengths to create products that deliver results without the use of nasty chemicals”.
Mark Netherway - Owner and Founder.

Using advanced technology in the materials, formulations and manufacturing techniques, Healthy Home Products are second to none. Their ‘safe and clean’ range leads the way in environmental responsibility and performance.

The Healthy Home Products range was built from the ground up for people with skin sensitivities and allergies. It is designed to work as effectively as the commercial market leaders. All the products in the range have been tested and proven. All products are developed and manufactured in Melbourne to stringent Australian standards, using only the best natural food grade ingredients.

- NO nasty chemicals - This includes phthalates, petrochemicals, harsh detergents, artificial fragrance and many other toxic ingredients found in commonly used household cleaners.
- High performance / low cost - We use the highest food and pharmaceutical grade ingredients (over 99.9% purity) and pure essential oils in our products.
- Proudly Australian made and owned - We’re a family business based in Melbourne. We’re passionate about our products, supporting local businesses and appreciate our loyal customers.
- Because the health of your family matters! We trust the safety of our products, so we only test them on people – not animals! The Abode range is 100% cruelty free and vegan friendly.
- We care about our environment - Our ingredients are sustainably sourced, environmentally friendly and grey water safe. All products are available in refill and bulk sizes to minimise waste.
